2009 TRANSPAC WEATHER & ROUTING SERVICES

- 1. Weather Discussions: An overall view of current weather analysis in the eastern Pacific Ocean and a 6 day projection of the major weather features. Trends in weather patterns are identified and possible uncertainties in forecast models. Recommend a minimum of two discussions. Each discussion is $85.00 USD
- 2. Race Summaries: Includes similar weather discussion as above, plus tactical discussion and provide optimal route suggestions from start to finish. Route suggestions are given by aim points that can be conveniently entered into onboard navigational systems (GPS). Charts accompany the text to graphically depict weather patterns overlaid with suggested route. Typically, the most competitive racers receive three to five summaries in the immediate days ahead of their start date. Recommend a minimum of two summaries. Pre-start telephone call included. Each summary is $115.00 USD.
- 3. Personal Teleconferences: Group or private conferences can be arranged. These meetings provide focused presentations on EPAC weather features you may encounter and how to tactically use them. Some topics include how to judge trends in movement and strength of the EPAC high, possible disruptions in climatological weather patterns, tropical disturbances, tropical waves, choosing the correct side of the course, etc. $100.00 USD/hr.
- 4. Post Race Debrief: A follow-up session after arrival in Honolulu can be arranged to discuss post race strategy, lesson learns, etc. High resolution weather data (grb files) covering the entire race period can be provided on CD for historical purposes. Provided on or before July 15, 2009. Price: $100.00 USD/hr
- 5. Post Race Return Delivery: Weather and routing support can be provided for a safer and more expeditious return voyage to U.S. mainland or other destinations. Departure Planning: $85.00. Enroute Updates: $45.00 each transmission.
- 6. Crew Availability: If you should find the need to have additional crew, I may be available to assist. Price: TBD.
